MOOSE ENTERTAIN

Musical Program Delights Large Audience at Lodge Home.

Local members of the Loyal Order of Moose entertained their wives and young women friends last night at the home of the organization, 635 G street northwest. The auditorium was crowded to capacity. The guests were entertained by Billy Burke in songs, Moose Quartet, Moose Trio on string instruments, the Neathelon Quartet, and the High School Glee Club.

Among the notables present was N. Wadko Kennedy, national director, and Mrs. Katherine Van Ness, district organizer for the Moose Circle, the women's auxiliary of the order, who secured many applications for membership.

Austria has made an arrangement with Petrograd by which books can be forwarded to the German prisoners of war in Russia to dispel the monotony of their confinement by reading.

EDWARD J. STELLWAGEN HOST.

Twenty-four Personal Friends Entertained at Raleigh Banquet.

Edward J. Stellwagen was the host at a banquet tendered to a number of his personal friends last night at the Raleigh. Covers were laid for twenty-four, as follows: G. Clifford Howard, George E. Fleming, Albert P. Maderia, Samuel W. Miller, Walter M. McCurdy, Horace F. J. Drake, Jr., H. B. B. Gordon, William L. Crane, Edward L. Hillier, Irving Zippel, Raymond E. Otterback, Thomas A. Mullett, William S. Lyons, W. Frank D. Herron, Reginald Rutherford, Henri Guillaume, T. Baker Robinson, Horace A. Lake, George A. Z. Harris, Edson B. Oida, G. Elmer Flather, J. Madison Cutts and Elliott V. Noyes.

According to statistics prepared by Dr. Grunwald, of Vienna, the Austrian infantry has fired 1,500,000,000 cartridges and the artillery 12,000,000 shells since the beginning of the war.

HEAVY MOTOR TRUCKS WILL SUPPLY TROOPS

Factories Will Deliver Forty-four Machines to Be Rushed to Columbus, N. Mex.

The War Department yesterday sent orders to the factory of the White Motor Company, at Cleveland, and the Jeffery Motor Company, at Kenosha, to supervise the shipment of twenty-seven motor trucks, from each factory for use on the border. The officers will accompany the shipments to El Paso and thence to Columbus, N. Mex., where the motor trucks will be used to transport food supplies, ammunition and water to supply bases in interior Mexico.

These forty-four motor trucks will be added to those already on the border. They will patrol the line of communication established from the supply bases to the border concentration camps. In addition, there will be motorcycle patrols established. Twenty-eight chauffeurs and five motorcycleists will be assigned to each motor truck company. The line of communication patrolled by the motor trucks and motorcycle squads will be independent of the rail communication. So long as Funston's troops are in Mexico, the railway lines running south from the border will be kept open for transportation of supplies, particularly water, the shortage of which is the greatest handicap under which the troops will operate while in the desert belt of Northern Mexico.

ENGLAND'S SEIZURES OF SECURITIES SCORED

Amsterdam Newspaper Declares Explanation Given by Government Does Not Clear Situation.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Berlin (via Sayville), March 16.—From whatever side one considers the question, the seizure of securities by the government must be called an unheard of breach of law, by which a reckless game is played with the sympathies of neutrals.

Thus the Amsterdam Handelsblad criticizes the explanations given by the British for the confiscation of securities. The securities, the Dutch newspaper argues, would not be liable to confiscation even if they were German property, since England has never declared securities, commercial paper or coupons contraband of war.

The Handelsblad points out that the explanation proves the intention of England to continue the practice of seizing securities passing from one neutral country to another, even though they belong to neutrals. This is indubitable, it says, by the English announcement that a prize court will decide whether or not the securities belong to neutrals. The newspaper avers that the bonafide property of Dutchmen to the value of several millions of florins has thus been seized by the British.

GARZIGLIA AND FABRIZIO DELIGHT BIG AUDIENCE

Pianist and Violinist Thrill Attendees at Concert in New Willard Ball Room.

Felix Garziglia, pianist, and Carmine Fabrizio, violinist, thrilled a large audience of Washington's music devotees by their wonderful playing at a joint recital given yesterday afternoon in the ballroom of the New Willard Hotel.

The following program was rendered: Sonata, C minor (Edward Grieg), Felix Garziglia and Carmine Fabrizio; Ballade, G minor (Chopin); Etude, C sharp minor (Chopin); La Cathedrale engloutie (Debussy); Tarantelle (Moszkowski); Felix Garziglia; Romance-Albumleaf (Wagner); Zapateado (Sarasate); Melodie (Gluck) Gavotte (Bach); Sonata, A major (Cesar Franck); Felix Garziglia and Carmine Fabrizio.

The Ballade, G minor, by Chopin, afforded Mr. Garziglia a wonderful vehicle to display his ability to produce tone color, and upon the conclusion of his selections he was roundly applauded. He responded with "The Sparks," by Moszkowski. So tremendous was the applause after his rendering four selections, that Mr. Fabrizio was compelled to respond with "Reve d'Enfant," by Ysaye. George Wilson, of this city, accompanied Mr. Fabrizio on the piano.

Aquarium Society Meets.

Several talks, interesting to those who scientifically raised gifted members of the finny tribe, were made last night at a meeting of the Aquarium Society at the Public Library. Mrs. L. Helen Fowler told of the hybridization of water lilies. Dr. Shufeldt, president of the organization, told of the various kinds of salt-water fish found in the District, and Henry Wagner, chief clerk in the Bureau of Naturalization, Department of Commerce, talked on the balanced aquarium.

DENIES USING POLITICS WITH SCHOOL JANITORS

Prof. Ward Says He Did Not Try to Destroy Discipline at Their Recent Meeting.

Prof. E. J. Ward, of the Bureau of Education, who has been taking an active part in launching the community forum movement in Washington, last night explained why he appealed to the school janitors to support the Johnson bill, providing for the opening of the schools at any time the citizens desire.

Referring to the published charge that he had "played politics" with the janitors by offering to bring influence to bear to secure an increase in their pay if they would support the Johnson bill, Prof. Ward admitted having offered to help them get higher wages, but denied it was done with any intention of destroying their loyalty to the Board of Education. It is expected that the formidable array of speakers scheduled to address the Grover Cleveland Forum at the Public Library on Sunday afternoon will touch upon the action of the Board of Education in refusing to allow the Grover Cleveland Forum to use the Grover Cleveland School on Sundays.

Among the speakers will be Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President; William F. Gude; Senator Chilton, of West Virginia; Representative Lewis, of Maryland; William Blackman, of the Department of Labor; and Basil Manley, secretary to the Committee on Industrial Relations.

CARLIN BILL INDORSED

Chicago Federation Urges Protection of Plate Printing Industry.

The Carlin bill, based on the so-called Holder resolution, and designed to guard the American plate printing industry from unjust foreign competition, has just been indorsed by the Chicago Federation of Labor, according to word received last night by J. J. Ryan, editor of The Plate Printer, official organ of the plate printers of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

The bill, which was introduced recently by Representative Carlin, of Virginia, after conferences with Mr. Holder, international president of the plate printers' union, and originator of the movement, now is being given consideration by the House Judiciary Committee.

Luther W. Irwin Dead.

Luther W. Irwin, 51, an employee of the Treasury Department, died unexpectedly last night after a few days' illness from pneumonia. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Olive Capp Irwin, and two sons, John Capp and Luther Wesley Irwin. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at his late residence, 2545 Seventeenth street northwest. Interment will be at Springfield, Ill., his home until three years ago, when his duties brought him to this city.

B. H. Meyer Heads I. C. C.

Balthasar H. Meyer was yesterday elected chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission to succeed Chairman Charles C. McHardy. The commission made this announcement: "In accordance with the practice of the commission, made effective a few years ago, that the term of office of the chairman shall be for one year, the commission has elected B. H. Meyer as chairman for one year."

HOUSE BABIES HAVE PRESS CLUB AUDITORS

Speaker Clark Is Godfather to the Bunch and Pleads for Long Service in Congress.

Twelve of the 146 new babies of the House of Representatives were introduced last night to make their first public wails, and the members of the National Press Club were their anxious auditors.

Speaker Clark was the godfather of the bunch. His applause was very generous following the introductory speech of Theodore Tiller, the president of the club, who hoped that "he will be in Washington a long time either as Speaker or in a position one notch higher."

The babies who told with a smile the sad stories of their young and mispent lives were: McLenore, of Texas; Britt, of North Carolina; Walsh, of Massachusetts; Venable, of Mississippi; Meeker, of Missouri; Dill, of Washington; Gandy, of South Dakota; Sanders, of New York; Elliston, of California; McArthur, of Oregon; Huddleston, of Alabama; and Scott, of Michigan.

"The best rule, it seems to me," said Speaker Clark, "is for a district to select a man young enough to learn and to grow, with at least fair capacity, industrious, honest, energetic, sober, and courageous, and keep him here so long as he discharges his duties faithfully and well. Such a man will gradually rise to high position and influence in the House."

Prizes to the Congressional babies were: The cutest baby, a rabbit, to Mr. Walsh; the fattest, milk bottle and nipple, to Mr. Meeker; the most turbulent baby, a drum, to Mr. Elliston; the baby with the brightest smile, a Sunny Jim doll, to Mr. Gandy; the most precocious baby, an A. B. C. book, to Mr. Huddleston; the baby with the strongest lungs, a whistle, to Mr. McArthur; the most vivacious baby, a rattle, to Mr. Sanford; the cleanest baby, a cake of soap, to Mr. Dill; the most bellicose baby, a cannon, to Mr. Scott; the most versatile baby (sometimes known as the administration's bet), a frog, to Mr. McLenore; the handsomest baby, a mirror, to Mr. Venable; and the best all-round baby, a ball, to Mr. Britt.

POLICE RAID BEING PROBED.

Pullman Investigates Charge that House Was Entered Without Cause.

Mrs. Rose Kennett, of 328 Delaware avenue, who alleges her house was broken into by police detectives early yesterday, intimated last night she would take her charges before the District Attorney and seek "justice and protection."

Mrs. Kennett complained to Maj. Pullman, superintendent of police, by telephone. Maj. Pullman said last night that an investigation had been started. "If it is shown the policemen exceeded their authority, the case will be placed before the trial board," Maj. Pullman declared.

Mrs. Kennett's rooming house was "broken into" early yesterday by the police "vice squad," she declares. No warrant was shown even after the men had unlocked a door, she declares.

WRITERS READY THOUGH WAR NEWS IS LACKING

Baker Makes Dandy Arrangements for Newspaper Men, but Does Not Give Them Any News.

Secretary of War Baker yesterday maintained a censorship that absolutely closed up all sources of news as to troop movements or as to plans of future operation. When the orders were first given to send troops into Mexico, Mr. Baker turned over the reception room of his office for use as a press room. Telephone booths were put in for the news associations and for the larger papers. Private wires were run into the newspaper offices. Typewriters were installed for use of the fifty odd newspaper men assigned to cover the "war" at headquarters. Mimeographs were put in readiness to grind out news bulletins for the press. Then the censorship lid was clamped down. The mimeographs, telephones and typewriters remain unused. One bulletin was issued when the first Funston reports of his preparation for the expedition were received. That was last Saturday. There has been none since.

UNITES FOR SENATOR SHIVELY TOMORROW

Funeral Party, Including Congressional Committee, Accompanies Body to South Bend, Ind.

The funeral of the late Senator Benjamin F. Shively, of Indiana, will take place at South Bend, Ind., tomorrow. The official funeral party left Washington at 6 o'clock last night and will arrive at South Bend at noon today. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall accompanied the party. The Congressional committee to escort the body was composed of ten Senators and seven Representatives, as follows: Senators Kern, Williams, Hollis, Johnson (Maine), Page, Poindexter, Ashurst, Sterling, Thompson, and Smith (Arizona); and Representatives Igoe, of Missouri; Treadway, of Massachusetts; Austin, of Tennessee; Lafean, of Pennsylvania; Smith, of Michigan; Dunn, of New York; and Tilson, of Connecticut.
